

FARM WORK IS IN GOOD SHAPE IN KENTUCKY

Federal Weather Bureau Issues Crop
Summary In Which Crops
Are Reported Good.

Louisville, July 1. — The weather bureau today issued the following summary and crop conditions in Kentucky during the week ending June 28:

"Good rains occurred during the week in the North central counties, including most of the Bluegrass region; and light local showers elsewhere. A large area in the central part of the state received little or no rain. Drought is becoming serious in many localities, the condition as to moisture being decidedly 'spotted' in the central and Western counties.

"Except in the driest localities, corn is in satisfactory condition and is growing rapidly. Its growth has been stimulated greatly by the persistent high temperature which has adversely affected other crops. Meadows are maturing prematurely although some improvement from local rains is noted. Hay harvest has begun with the weather favorable and yields light. Oats are filling better on account of showers, but straw is short.

"A full crop of tobacco could not be set in the dark district on account of dry soil. Transplanting of burley was generally completed during the week, which is unusually late for this crop. In most of the state the weather was favorable for thrashing, which made good progress; but yields are generally less than expected. This is believed to be due to the long period of dry weather preceding harvest that prevented many heads from filling completely.

"Some young clover has died in the driest districts and only favored localities report it in good condition. Pastures are short and badly dried in some sections.

"Farm work is in good shape and crops are clean and well cultivated."

LEGION MOST LIKELY TO OFFER CHAUTAUQUA

Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion Will Probably Sign Contract for Chautauqua for August.

It is learned on good authority that there is now every possibility that Maysville will have a chautauqua at Beechwood Park this year.

The Leslie H. Arthur Post American Legion has been on a deal with an independent Chautauqua for a date during the first of the month of August and the chautauqua people are quite anxious to come to Maysville. A list of the available talent will be furnished the Legion and they will elect a committee of local people who will choose the talent for the local season.

The matter of finances and signing of the contract is all that now remains to be done to assure Maysville of a chautauqua and this will probably be done within the week.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION DATE CHANGED.

Word has been received from the State Sunday School Association that it will be impossible to send a state worker for the date set for the Mason county convention and suggested that the date be changed if possible. Knowing the value of the presence of one of the field workers, President Greenlee of the county announces that the date will be moved forward to July 22nd. The new date seems to meet with general approval. The convention will be held in the Lawrence Creek Christian church, and from the interest taken by that school as well as practically every school in the county the coming convention should set a new high mark for attendance and interest.

Mrs. Edward Duley and son, William Edward, of Forest avenue, have returned home after a month's visit with Mrs. Jack Snyder at Pittsburg.

FORMER PRESIDENT WILLIAM H. TAFT IS NEW CHIEF JUSTICE

WM HOWARD TAFT

President Harding Names Hon. Wm. H. Taft Chief Justice of Supreme Court of United States.

Washington, July 1. — Former President William Howard Taft was nominated late Thursday by President Harding to be Chief Justice of the United States, and his nomination was confirmed by the Senate in executive session.

The nomination was not confirmed without opposition, however, and a roll-call was demanded. The opposition was understood to have been voiced by Senators Borah, Idaho; Johnson, California, and LaFollette, Wisconsin, all Republicans, who were said to have criticized Mr. Taft's record and his nomination.

On the roll-call, however, only four votes were cast against confirmation. These were by Senators Borah, Johnson, and LaFollette, and Senator Watson, Democrat, Georgia.

The final vote was 60 to 4. An agreement was reached not to make public the roll-call.

Mr. Taft will succeed the late Edward Douglass White, whom he appointed to the office in 1910.

It was indicated that President Harding had acted so far in advance of the winter term of the court because he felt that the new Chief Justice should have ample time to reorganize the court's business before the reconvening October 1.

Mr. Harding is understood to have been advised by legal officers of the administration that all the Federal Courts were so congested with business that prompt action during summer recess was necessary in order to expedite litigation as much as possible.

The former President is now in Montreal aiding in a railway arbitration for the Canadian Government and is expected to return to the United States soon to familiarize himself with the work of the court.

ING PROGRAM AT RUGGLES.

Every fellow is trying to make the biggest noise for the Fourth of July celebration he is most interested in. It's a fine thing the Nation's natal day is to be so generally observed, and in such a patriotic way. This is not written to induce anyone to go away from Maysville to celebrate. Surely we have as fine a program as can be found anywhere for the day. But—if you are going to take a trip away from the city to celebrate just head your automobile toward Ruggles Campgrounds. Out there you will find one of the most beautiful woods you ever saw; plenty of shade, plenty of good water, plenty of people, and a fine program of speeches, singing, band music and a general good time for everybody. The old folks will want to be there. Remember there is sure to be three prizes in gold given away, one to the oldest married couple, one to the oldest man, and to the oldest woman. And don't forget that Fred Bassett will be there with some "new ones." Again if you must leave Maysville go to the Old Settlers reunion at Ruggles Campgrounds.

DRAWING FOR POSITION ON BALLOTS HERE.

All candidates for county offices in the August primary who have opposition, will draw for position on the ballots at the County Clerk's office twenty-five days before the primary election and considerable interest will be attached to this drawing.

MOVES TO MAYSVILLE.

Mrs. Ora Ives, former Mason county woman, whose husband was killed recently in an automobile accident at Shelbyville, Ind., is moving to Maysville from the Indiana city to make her home, having recently purchased a home in Forest avenue.

STEAMER CHLO HAS UNLUCKY TRIP TODAY

Deck Hand Is Drowned, Engineer Suffers Broken Arm and Steamer Has Hard Time Making Trip.

The trip up the Ohio Friday morning of the Green line steamer Chlo was certainly the most unlucky trip that steamer has ever yet taken.

When landing near Augusta at about daylight Friday morning a deck-hand, thought to be about half asleep, slipped from the front deck into the river and was run over by the steamer. An effort was made for an hour by members of the crew to recover the body of the colored man who no one seemed to know by his right name but the body was not recovered.

Shortly after leaving Augusta the steamer's pumps were not working properly and the engineer, while working on the machinery, suffered a broken arm. From Ripley to Maysville the boat was not running properly and members of the crew were completely worn out upon the arrival of the boat here.

FEDERAL PRISONERS ESCAPE JAIL AT LEX- INGTON THURSDAY

Five Federal Prisoners Escape Jail
When Bars Are Sawed Early Thursday.

Five prisoners, sentenced during the June term of Federal court in Lexington, early Thursday made their escape from the county jail. No trace of them had been found.

Those who made their escape, their sentences and descriptions follow: Charles Brown, of Ashland, sentenced to two years in the Federal prison at Atlanta for breaking into an interstate shipment, 30 or 35 years old, red hair, blue eyes about six feet tall and weighing about 135 pounds.

Willie Gartin, Haldemar, Ky., three months in county jail for violating the Mann Act, fair complexion, blue eyes, light hair, about 140 pounds, about about five feet ten inches tall.

Raymond Meese, Somerset, three months in county jail for selling intoxicating liquor, light hair, about six feet tall and between 150 and 170 pounds in weight.

Wallace Mitchell, Boyle county, four months in county jail for selling intoxicating liquor, brown hair, brown eyes, dark complexioned, tall and slender.

Chester Sparks, Somerset, three months in county jail for selling intoxicating liquor, between 160 and 165 pounds, brown hair and about five feet nine inches tall.

The escape, according to fellow prisoners, was effected between 3:30 and 4 o'clock from the cell on the first floor in the rear of the jail.

Mitchell, who was confined in a cell by himself, sawed a bar from his cell and climbed out into the corridor. He then turned a crank that opens all of the other cell doors.

Mitchell's cell was on the West side of the jail and the window through which the men escaped is located on the east side. After opening the cell doors, Mitchell is said to have asked the others if they wanted to make their getaway.

Four responded, but eight declined the invitation, preferring to remain until their sentences have been served, they said. All were awakened by the noise of the sawing.

Jailer Reuben Cropper said that according to information he had just received, someone gave Mitchell a saw on the day he was taken to the court house to have sentence passed on him by Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran.

BIG FOUR TRAIN HELD UP AND ROB- BED IN INDIANA

Safe in Express Car Is Dropped From Fast Train By Bandit; Early Friday Morning.

Covington, Ind., July 1.—Two masked bandits held up and robbed a passenger train on the Peoria and Eastern division of the Big Four Railroad a mile east of here early today.

The express messenger, Frank Ickman, was shot and wounded seriously. It is not known how much loot was taken.

The wounded messenger was brought to a hospital here. Physicians fear he may die. He was unable to talk, and the complete story of the holdup was not learned.

It was said that while no automobile was seen, the men dumped the safe off the train and carted it away.

The value of the loot obtained by the robbers was not known here.

Alexander Porter of Indianapolis, who is said to have been beating his way on the train, was shot and wounded during the search conducted after the robbery. According to police, Porter was seen running from the train, and when he refused to obey a command to halt, one of the officers opened fire. He is being held pending investigation.

OUR POLICY:

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE ACTION.

One of the most outrageous cases of discrimination against former service men was brought to light recently at Fort Wayne, Ind. It seems that there are a class of hotel keepers, and possibly merchants who not only refuse to help deserving ex-service men, but go out of their way to kick down stairs those who were wounded and gassed in the trenches in France while they were at home making money.

The case in question is that of a hotel in this Indiana city which refused to recognize United States government certificates, which were tendered the hotel clerk by a former service man who had been gassed in Flanders. The excuse given by this money grabbing clerk was that they "had no time to fool with the government certificates." If the boys who fought and bled in France had had no time to fool with the German hosts, this hotel keeper and his clerk would be having "to fool" perhaps with a German military governor. To the credit of Fort Wayne the American legion post, the daily press and patriotic citizens this insult has not gone unnoticed. A law should be passed making all civilians honor these certificates the same as any other check and imposing a fine for not doing so, the same as it is a federal offense to discriminate against soldiers in uniform.

FORD A FIRE BRAND.

In defeating Henry Ford for the United States senate in 1918 the voters of Michigan did not only themselves a service, but the entire nation. While he has accomplished a great thing in the automobile industry the appearance of the millionaire, the stirrer of class and racial and religious hatred, in the United States senate would have been demoralizing. The conspiracy of Woodrow Wilson to rob the Republicans of a senator by securing the nomination of a Wilsonized fanatic on the Republican ticket was happily frustrated by Senator Truman M. Newberry and his friends who are now serving a martyrdom thrust upon them by a spiteful administration. Well may Americans thank God that Ford was defeated. The following testimony in the Ford-Newberry contest at Washington speaks for itself and needs no comment:

"The committee also heard second hand what purported to be Mr. Ford's own theory of Senator Newberry's campaign from Allen Templeton, of Detroit.

"Mr. Ford called me in after election," Mr. Templeton said, "and told me that he believed a gang of Jews had a general conspiracy to control the senate and the government and that they had backed Newberry."

CURB, BUT DO NOT KILL.

In the administration of Theodore Roosevelt big business became arrogant and tried to run the government, especially the railroads. Roosevelt put them in their place, and did not kill them. The result was beneficial to the people.

In the administration of Woodrow Wilson, "Big Labor" tried to run the government and did so in the passing of the Adamson law and other rank class legislation. The result is that the railroads are demoralized, because of the demands of the railway brotherhoods and the people are the sufferers.

The result. The people are up in arms, and in some quarters efforts are being made to crush the labor movement. This should not be. America can not get along without labor. America can not get along without capital. Just recall Russia under red rule.

What America wants is not capital and labor crushed, but capital and labor controlled. In the "open shop" campaign the shop should not be closed to union men or to non-union men, but open to both equally. Curb labor, but do not crush it.

From the number of automobile trips some of the candidates in the Democratic primary are taking to the county, it appears that it will take several sheets of paper to contain their expense account which is to be filed in County Court.

Wonder if Democrats, who were so wrought up over Admiral Sims "jackass" speech, thought he was referring to their party. Boy page Woodrow and Jimmy!

CLOSE DOWN OIL PRODUCTION AS PRICES LOW.

Lexington, Ky. — Following the recent reduction in the price of crude oil, the Union Oil and Gas Company, which is one of the largest operating companies in the Eastern Kentucky field, with extensive holdings in Lawrence and Johnson counties, ordered its twenty drilling rigs in the upper Blaine district shut down, as the company takes the position that under present conditions and at the present low price level, oil cannot be profitably produced.

The company's wells, now nearing completion, will, it is announced, be finished, but no further new work will be undertaken until market conditions improve it is said. It is reported that other large oil companies operating in the Kentucky field will pursue a similar policy and suspend further developments until market conditions improve, except those companies who are compelled under their contracts to continue work to save their leases.

A big deal in Simpson county oil properties has just been reported here whereby the Pacific Oil and Fuel Company, of Florence, Kan., has taken over the entire holdings of J. H. Duettner, of St. Louis and Franklin. Though the consideration involved in the transaction has not been made public it is understood that it represents the top price paid in this immediate section.

There are six producing wells and a gasser on the Duettner properties which lie in the Dunn and Butt pool and include the Holby and Edwards farms in the Reeder pool. Adjoining the Dunn and Butt pool are the Flat Rock Oil Company, Blue Goose Oil Company, Cal-neck interests, Hendricks & Hester and Dick Green Oil Company producing leases. In addition the transfer includes 900 acres lying in the southeastern part of Simpson county, about four miles west of the Kean pool in Allen county. Between the acreage and the Kean a seventy-five barrel well was recently completed.

FROG RAINS AND PINK SHOWERS.

Gibraltar. — During a thunderstorm here recently a shower of frogs fell on the North Front. Thousands of these small hopping creatures were to be seen in the hedges and aroused much curiosity. Seven years ago similar phenomenon occurred and later a shower of sand covered everything with a pink deposit.

More than 300,000 people are out of work in New York City.

DAIRY DOPE.

Kentucky dairymen are losing enormous sums of money daily through the fact that their product reaches the market in such poor condition. There is a spread of 9 cents per pound between butter which scores 93 and butter which scores 86—and most of the butter made from Kentucky cream goes in the 86 score class. A visit to any railroad station will disclose cream cans which are spewing over the platform, and the odor from one of these cans would discourage a glue factory. The opinion seems to prevail that cream will keep indefinitely, and that no special care need be taken in keeping it, or in producing it. Separators are washed once a day — sometimes; cream cans are set where awarms of flies collect; full cans are not delivered promptly, and as a result of these shiftless methods a rancid, wiry, over-sour cream with a very obnoxious odor is delivered eventually to the buttermaker—who is expected to work a miracle and produce first class butter. It can't be done! The farmer who produces this quality of cream is not getting anything like what he could get out of his labor and feed. The cream stations are forced to pay for what they get—and they keep on the safe side. As a result the man who brings in clean cream, sweet or only slightly sour, does not get the full value out of his product on account of the fact that loss on the dirty or rancid cream forces the cream stations to pay less.

A movement has already been started to score cream and this will insure the man who brings in the good product a fair price, and will insure that the man who brings in the other sort will get as little as it is worth.

TOO HOMESICK, SO AMERICANS QUIT ADVENTURE.

Pagopago, American Samoa. — Homesickness and the hard rule of the quarterdeck caused thirteen Americans who wanted to tour the world seeking adventure to leave the yacht Wisdom 11 by the time she reached here recently from Los Angeles, Calif., on a trip of scientific research around the globe.

"All America wanted to go," Frederick O'Brien, author, one of the ship's company, said in telling of the requests made before sailing for berths on the boat. There were twenty officers, sailors and moving picture men aboard when the vessel left California.

Six left at Tahiti and seven here, leaving what Mr. O'Brien called a workable crew of seven Americans. Six Tahitians were taken aboard as sailors.

The Wisdom left Los Angeles January 19. On arriving here Capt. Salisbury entered the naval hospital for a few days.

The Marquesas islands and points in Tahiti, Bora Bora and Itaitai were visited before the boat arrived here. When she left for Apia all Pago Pago went to the beach to bid her farewell.

Seldom-visited places like the New Hebrides, New Guinea and New Caledonia are to be visited by the Wisdom before she heads for the far-east and India.

New York Letter

New York. — The Newport set of New York Society is exceedingly surprised. They had rather visualized themselves as giving a really worth while treat to the comparative quiet regions of Long Island when they turned to Southampton for their summer lodgings this season, deserting the famous Rhode Island resort. Pretty nice for Southampton was the way they saw it. And to behold, Southampton's old guard simply yawns its lorgnette and says, "Dear me! How invaders do creep in nowadays!" Being the summer capital of the smart set doesn't get one beam of pride from its face. The inner hand down at the Long Island village have surrounded themselves with an impregnable wall and dare these multi-millionaire New Yorkers to try to find a gateway.

—NY—
I have tried to figure this out ever since I saw it; but I haven't been able to do it yet. Why I didn't go boldly in and inquire about it, I don't know. In the window of an undertaking establishment on Monroe street, Brooklyn, I saw pinned to the white satin ribbon tied onto the handle of a basket of pink roses this sign: For Sale, Brunswick-Billard and Pool Table. Inquire within.

—NY—
The "Forlorn Hope" office might well be the name of the Knights of Columbus' bureau on West 40th street. There isn't anything else quite like it in the country, I believe. The mother of Antonio Nicola, who went to war and didn't come back, could be found. The Sam has $10,000 which belonged to her, because Tony had not neglected to take out war risk insurance. The neighbors said she had no money before she went away. The "Forlorn Hope" office found her. Deserted wives and children turn there to have their difficulties straightened out. It's a combination of a detective bureau, a first aid station, a bureau of mercy and charity, and a court for domestic difficulties.

—NY—
There is a New York banker with a "hobby" which might well do for a less disguised and supposedly sensible man. He writes to every writer who has had a book published and begs his autograph in behalf of "a sweet winsome baby with blue eyes and chubby fists"—his daughter for whom he is making a collection of not such autographs. And he doesn't even show the consideration of sending original letters; just pours form epistles in upon the poor author. The other day he met what some of the authors have felt he had coming to him. He wrote in care of an Oriental merchant to a Japanese writer whose works he had just noticed had been published. The merchant smiled to himself and sent him two autographs, one of the writer in question and the other of one Mr. Ukiyoe, "famous in the art world." And not until he met with laughter from some scholarly friends did the banker learn that the writer had been dead for several centuries and "Ukiyoe" is the name of a school of Japanese art—like an autograph of Mr. Water Color.

This is a fretful time of the year in the subway, according to one conversational guard. "I'll hear more arguments among the passengers within the next three weeks than all the rest of the year," he said the other day. "All because of the sun. About this time of the year everyone generally takes their first swim and gets their first sunburn. Then when somebody in the subway crowd jams against their blistered arms and shoulders, they certainly are touchy. And it doesn't take much touchiness to start a subway argument."

—NY—
There will have to be a fashion once again of false "puffs" and curls on women's coiffures in order to use up all the held that falls from the freshly bobbed heads. The hair dressers and barbers are getting an over supply. Sometimes, if the girl is clever, she gets a fair price for it at real cash. Usually she trades it for a permanent wave for what is left, say New York beauty shops.

LUCY JEANNE PRICE.
ADVERTISING AND BUSINESS MUST GROW, SAYS BANKER
Impossible For Any Permanent Curtailment of Volume of Advertising, Says Expert.

Newspaper and magazine advertising in the United States is unlikely to suffer any very considerable permanent loss in volume according to James I. Clarke, second vice-president of the National Bank of Commerce in New York. In the July number of Commerce Monthly, the bank's magazine, he presents a comparison of total advertising lineage for the past ten years with bank clearings outside New York. An accepted index of business activity. This comparison shows that both follow the same general trend, he points out, and that the unprecedented growth of advertising during the postwar boom period was primarily the result of business activity rather than of extraneous causes.

"There is a popular belief that the passing of the abnormal conditions of recent years may result in a marked and permanent reduction in advertising of every sort," Mr. Clarke declares. "In an era of sweeping and widespread changes in the course of business activity, the relation between the volume of advertising and the volume of business thus becomes a matter of more than mere technical interest. Briefly viewed, the subject is important not only to publishers, advertisers and advertising men but to the community as a whole."

"Any great decrease in the volume of advertising would have a profound effect on the number and distribution of both newspapers and periodicals and on the interchange of opinion which they so greatly stimulate. Many publications would necessarily be discontinued while those which survived would reach fewer readers because the loss of advertising revenues would make necessary large increases in subscription rates."

Mr. Clarke cites statistics compiled by Printers Ink and the New York Evening Post on newspaper and magazine advertising, which he has plotted as a graph together with the figures on bank clearings. He continues: "Comparing the curves representing New York City newspaper advertising and total magazine advertising, it will be noted that the seasonal variations in both classes of advertising occur together and with extraordinary regularity. Not only do the fluctuations in newspaper and magazine advertising occur at the same period but they are substantially similar in extent."

"Although the volume of newspaper and magazine advertising in the United States tends to follow in general the trend of business activity, this study of total advertising lineage emphasizes the remarkably stable character of the volume of advertising. The general upward trend in the volume of advertising continued without substantial interruption from the early est date for which satisfactory data are available until the autumn of 1920. "During 1919 and the early months of 1920 there was a considerable gain in both newspaper and magazine advertising, particularly in the former. This increase followed a period during 1917-18 when a rapidly rising price level and the stimulation of war activity very considerably increased bank clearings throughout the country so that this index of general business during those two years tended to rise faster than the volume of either magazine or newspaper advertising."

"In the summer of 1914 the sudden catastrophe of the European War reacted swiftly on nearly every form of business activity, with the result that bank clearings throughout the latter half of the year were substantially below the average of the preceding year. The volume of advertising also decreased, magazine advertising to a somewhat greater degree than bank clearing and newspaper advertising in slightly less proportion."

"During the latter half of 1920 and the first months of the current year, business was again faced with a period of sudden and profound readjustment. Bank clearings outside of New York City, which reached a total of over $18,000,000,000 in October 1920, fell to less than $13,000,000,000 in February, 1921. The volume of magazine advertising declined in accordance with the unusual seasonal fluctuations during the fall of 1920 but much more precipitately than in previous years. The volume of newspaper advertising followed the normal seasonal variations and decreased proportionately less than bank clearings."

"It thus appears that, apart from seasonal variations, the volume of advertising tends generally to move with general business activity but that on the whole the volume of advertising lineage possesses marked stability, rising less rapidly than business in seasons of extraordinary activity and falling less rapidly in periods of depression. Newspaper advertising appears to be more stable than magazine advertising."

"There appears to be no reason to believe that the notable increase in periodical advertising during 1919 and 1920 was influenced to any great extent by Federal taxes, or was the result of any factor other than the stimulus of business activity."

"The experience of the past ten years and especially that of the periods of depression in 1914-15 and 1920-21 seems to demonstrate that the place of advertising in the present economic system is thoroughly well established, and it seems improbable that there can be any very considerable permanent curtailment of its volume."

HIGH PRICES AND FEDERAL APPROPRIATIONS.

Washington, D. C. — "Loud cries of economy are being heard from many quarters, and Congress and the President have been made the butt of much recent criticism for not reducing expenditures even more than they have," says the Republican Publicity Association. "But there is yet to be suggested an intelligent plan for putting into effect further savings that those people are calling for. They all concede that the Army and Navy must be maintained in a condition of adequate defense, that the Shipping Board cannot be abandoned when the Government owns a four-billion dollar fleet, that interest and sinking fund payments must be made on the public debt, that the same promise that railroads under the terms of the Transportation Act must be paid, and that a civil establishment must be kept at a sufficient size to insure the functioning of the Government."

"Of course all these things must be provided for, and the Republican Congress has provided for them with appropriations cut to the bone. If more savings can be effected let the critics indicate the specific point where they would apply the economy, rather than continue their monotonous call, 'expenditures must be reduced.' As a matter of fact there is nobody in the country more competent to frame the national appropriation bill than the men who are actually doing it in Congress. And there is not a man in the country more eager to save the people's money than those same Congressmen. In the framing of each bill officials of the executive departments coming within its provisions are called before the appropriation committees and questioned in minutest detail as to the actual necessity of every dollar that is asked of Congress. Those bills emerge from the committees, and later from the Senate and House, pared of every superfluous cent, and in that shape they become laws. "People must remember that the cost of living affects the Government just as it does everybody else. Big appropriation bills will always accompany high prices, and, in the present instance, the Shipping Board, railroad payments, big interest bills, and much of the general civil establishment are hangovers from the war, quite unknown in former peace times, but from which Congress cannot rid itself. Congressional critics would do well to cease their meaningless comparisons of present-day expenditures with those of 1914, and devote themselves to pointing out a specific instance where a dollar can be saved. The Republicans of Congress will welcome and act on the suggestion if it is sincerely and intelligently made."
